SERIES LEVEL DESCRIPTION

S 1. York University, 1961-1972, consists of papers and correspondence relating to the establishment of Atkinson College and to its operations; material relating to; other faculties at the university; personnel policies; the libraries; and to Smyth's period as Assistant to the President in 1962-1963. There is material from university committees (President's Academic Advisory, Recruiting for York Staff, Senate Committee on Admissions, and on Academic Dismissal, Continuing Education) and on the Academic Master Plan. There are also reports on the Building programme at Osgoode, the Department of Campus Planning and the Master Plan Committee reports, all of this material dated 1961-1972. The fonds also includes a series of 12 audio tape reels which document a conference, 'Saturday Communications Happening,' that took place at Atkinson College, March 1968, co-sponsored by the CBC which discussed aspects of Expo '67.

S 2. York University Centre for Continuing Education, 1967-1969, contains minutes of the Directors and Administrative Committees, 1967-1969, correspondence and papers which cover the initial statement of the development of continuing education at York, the administrative structure of the Centre, material relating to programmes offered to students, the continuing education programmes at other universities, and newspaper clippings.

S 3. Atkinson College, 1961-1987, contains minutes of the College Council, 1961-1973 and its Executive Committee, 1965-1969, as well as minutes of the Advisory Committee of the York Board of Governors to Atkinson College, the Advisory Committee to the Dean, the Administrative Policy Committee, and other bodies. It also contains correspondence and papers relating to admissions, the Council of Fellows, the Student Council, Atkinson functions, financial records (including budget documents (1963-1969, 1979), and reports and deliberations of committees of both Atkinson College and York University (Committee of York and Atkinson, Calendar Committee, Examinations and Academic Standards Board, Nominating Committee, Tenure and Promotions Committee). There is also material relating to courses in several departments (Computer Science, English, French, Humanities, Natural Science, etc), correspondence and reports from the Associate Dean, faculty lists and fellowships, student programmes and student information enrolment projections (1968), and historical sketches and newspaper clippings. There is also material relating to the courses taught by Smyth at Atkinson, including courses in Administrative Studies, Social Science, and Technology, which contain lecture notes, course handouts and reading lists.

S 4. Ontario Colleges of Applied Arts and Technology, 1966-1977, contains material on several of the colleges including; general correspondence and material relating to continuing education, internal government and administration, financing, educational philosophy, and programmes. This material relates to the following colleges: Algonquin, Cambrian, Centennial, Conestoga, Confederation, Durham, Fanshawe, George Brown, Georgian, Humber, Lambton, Loyalist, Mohawk, Niagara, Northern, St. Clair, St. Lawrence, Seneca, Sheridan, and Sir Sanford Fleming. In addition, there is general material covering the administration of the colleges, including guidelines for Boards of Governors, curriculum material for Liberal Studies, philosophies and statements of aims, and reports on the need for alternative educational facilities from universities (1945-1963 for the last). There is correspondence from presidents of the colleges with Smyth that were used for studies he conducted ('Principles governing curriculum development in CAATs', 'Proposals regarding the academic organization and administration of colleges', 'Proposals for the organization and administration of college curriculum and teaching arrangements), as well as enrolment statistics (1965-1977), and several reports from professional and advocacy bodies on adult education and community colleges (Canadian Association for Adult Education, Canadian Commission for the Community College, Ontario Ministry of Colleges and Universities), as well as statistical information, and studies by individuals and by Smyth on the role of community colleges in Canadian and other societies, speeches by Smyth and others on Colleges, newspaper clippings and printed material.

S 5. Ontario Council of Regents for the Community Colleges, 1966-1973, consists of the minutes and related material of committees (Research, Reviews and Executive Finance, Staff Relations, Student Affairs and Curriculum, Administrative and Student Affairs, Certificate Co-ordinating, Curriculum Affairs, Student and Faculty Affairs, etc), as well as reports on the colleges from government and independent researchers on various aspects of admissions, administration and policy. There is also a good deal of correspondence and papers, including a copy of the Board of Regents 'Brief to the Commission on Post-Secondary Education in Ontario,' (Bovey Commission, 1972), and material relating to the administration of the colleges, their role in Canadian education, and related topics.

S 6. Ryerson Polytechnical Institute Commission on Government, 1969-1970, which Smyth chaired, contains minutes of the Ryerson Board of Governors (1970), as well as material on admissions, demographic study on students enrolled, correspondence with administrators, governors, and faculty members, historical documents relating to creation, philosophy and growth of Ryerson, and of its programmes, as well as communications with other Canadian and British colleges. There are also annual reports, and reports from the Ryerson Placement Services (1964-1969), as well as reports from management consultants regarding projections for Ryerson's growth. There is also a copy of Smyth's final report, 'Government for higher learning in Ryerson Polytechnical Institute,' (1970).

S 7. The Canadian International Trade Fair, 1947-1955, for which Smyth was Assistant Administrator, includes general correspondence about the fair, including correspondence with the exhibitors, promotional material, publicity and advertising, interim reports and recommendations, a history of the Trade Fairs, sales manuals, press releases, a scrapbook of 'Trade Fair news,' periodicals, a copy of 'Trade Fair,' produced by the National Film Board, and catalogues of the Fair.

S 8. Council of Bishop Strachan School, 1966-1975, on which Smyth served, includes corporation and council minutes (1966-1973), by-laws, records of committees (Administration, Aims & Objectives, Campaign Extension, Curriculum, Forward Planning, Junior School, Selection for a new head master), membership lists, circular letters, auditors' reports and financial statements (1966-1972), press releases and newspaper clippings, newsletters, prospectus, calendars, and other printed materials.

S 9. Ontario Committee on Student Awards, 1960-1973, includes minutes (1967-1970), correspondence and reports on College Scholarship Services, Ontario Graduate Fellowships, the Student Awards Program and provincial policies, as well as reports on financial accessibility, costs of education, press releases, and published material.

S 10. Ontario Health Sciences Education Advisory Committee, 1966-1970, consists of minutes of the committee and sub-committee (1970), internal reports of the Senior Co-ordinating Committee, as well as external reports on training for the health professions.

S 11. Elliott Lake Centre for Continuing Education, 1965-1986, includes minutes of the Board of Governors (1968-1984), and of various committees (Executive, Budget and Finance, Long Term Planning), and of the Annual Meeting (1975-1985), general correspondence, financial documents including budget estimates (1969-1973, 1979-1986), salary proposals and review, balance sheets and financial statements (1968-1969, 1973-1974, 1977-1981), reports from committees, and the first annual report of the Centre, press releases and newspaper clippings, contracts, health and safety issues, as well as printed material on resources and events at the Centre.

S 12. Correspondence, 1958-1986, consists of Smyth's personal and professional correspondence during his academic administrative career. There is correspondence and papers on several subjects (alcohol, Canadian religious bodies, granting foundations), and with other universities, institutes of learning, and associations of universities and colleges including York Regional School of Nursing, Ontario Christian College Association, Association of Atlantic Universities, Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, Coast Guard Training College, Nova Scotia Agricultural College and some universities and colleges in the United Kingdom and the United States. In addition, there are newspaper clippings and related printed material on a variety of topics (academic freedom, university admissions, Canadian academic associations, education, finance, professors and teachers, students). There is also a good deal of correspondence, clippings and published material with reference to individuals in government, business and academe. There is also material on organizations that he
